

Noetix Enterprise Technology Suite

Faster, Easier, More Cost-Effective Information Access

Complex application data structures make information access frustrating and resource intensive, limiting an organization's ability to make informed decisions. The Noetix Enterprise Technology Suite rapidly unlocks data trapped within applications—quickly and cost-effectively transforming enterprise data into valuable digital assets.

Simplifies Data Access—Automatically

Proprietary Noetix MetaBuilder™ technology detects unique application configurations and automatically generates reporting objects specific to your business. Noetix automatically maps data locations, performs complex joins, translates flexfields, and simplifies data access without extensive development effort.

Accelerates Report Development

The Noetix Enterprise Technology Suite includes a customized help file that describes and organizes your business views into an easily searchable, valuable resource. "Hints" and report examples guide query development to significantly speed the development of reports, business dashboards and scorecards.

Empowers Any Reporting Tool—including Excel

The open Noetix architecture enables rapid usability of the reporting tools most familiar to your users—including seamless query export into Microsoft® Excel. Eliminated are setup delays, extensive training, and costly development associated with deploying new reporting and analytical tools.

Delivers Immediate Answers to Business Questions

Noetix's Web-based reporting allows cost-effective rollout of reporting capabilities to employees, vendors or partners. The extensive library of pre-built reports automatically delivers relevant, customized information to users. Automatic translation of data structures into simple reporting objects allows business users to easily create or modify reports to meet their unique requirements.

Centralizes Data Across Organizations and Business Units

Essential business data can be found in numerous data sources. Noetix provides a centralized repository of all data throughout the organization, bringing together sets of books, organizational units and even disparate data sources.

Protects Your Reporting Investment

Queries written directly to an application's data structure risk expensive rework when the application is upgraded. Noetix provides a metadata layer that automatically migrates queries to the new structure and protects existing reports.

An Integrated Solution

The Noetix Enterprise Technology Suite comprises the integrated family of Noetix products and includes NoetixViews®, Noetix QueryServer®, Noetix WebQuery® and NoetixAnswers™. Tight product integration and auto-discovery technology ease deployment concerns by providing one unified, wizard-driven installation. The accelerated reporting capability assures a dramatic return on investment and a lower total cost of ownership.

NoetixViews

NoetixViews provides the automated capabilities that rapidly translate data complexity into simple, easy-to-use business views. Through Noetix MetaBuilder technology, NoetixViews automatically creates a metadata layer and help file—unique to your business—that protects your reporting investment and accelerates report development.

Noetix QueryServer

Noetix QueryServer takes command of disparate data environments by centralizing view and user access management, rapidly integrating multiple data sources in a single place. Administrators maintain control while business professionals gain single login and location transparency for all data sources. From securing key data access to optimizing query performance, Noetix QueryServer simplifies the complex tasks associated with enterprise-wide information access.

Noetix WebQuery

Noetix WebQuery uses the power of the Internet to rapidly deploy zero footprint, browser-based reporting capabilities. From employees to vendors, Noetix WebQuery's user interface is easy to use, empowering decision makers with report creation and modification with minimal training.

NoetixAnswers

NoetixAnswers is a comprehensive collection of query templates that are automatically generated based on your unique application configurations. Providing immediate answers to common business questions, each Noetix answer can be easily personalized using Noetix WebQuery to meet individual requirements—without IT involvement.
